

St Paul's Hospital

With numerous contracts in this facility our latest was the revamping of ventilation systems for a number of fully utilized operating rooms. This had to occur without disrupting the daily function of the operating rooms. These ventilation systems require precise temperature and pressure environments.